DATA FILES

Data files recently released are listed below. They are sold by Customer Services unless otherwise noted. (Sales are final—with the exception that defective products may be returned within 90 days. Contact Customer Services before returning an item.)

The cost of new files on computer tape generally is based on the file size, with the minimum charge being $175. The files are offered on tape reels or tape cartridges.

Data files also are offered on compact disc—read-only memory (CD-ROM), a 4 3/4-inch laser disc. The price for a mass-produced CD-ROM, prepared for popular files, generally is $150.

CD-ROM's also can be prepared on request for other data files otherwise available only on tape reel or cartridge. The cost for such CD's is the same as the cost for the tape file. The CD files are ASCII copies in the same format as on tape, and they are not accompanied by software. Since the discs are specially prepared in response to customers' requests, orders take about three to four weeks. For further information about this service, contact Customer Services.

Files available on diskette ("floppies") for IBM and compatible microcomputers also are listed.

An ever increasing variety of data files and product information (including this publication) can be accessed via the Internet, CENDATA™, or directly through the bulletin board Census-Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA) Electronic Forum. (See "How to Order" on page 6 for more information.)

Some files are exclusively online, such as those listed in the "Online Data" section, below.

Technical documentation, included with each file order, also generally is available separately. The price varies.

Free Data Developments booklets provide brief descriptions of most files. They may be requested from Customer Services.

SELECTED ABSTRACTS

This section features abstracts for various products released during the month or previously released products of wide interest.

A Brief Look at Postwar U.S. Income Inequality (P60-191)

Data time span—1967 through 1994, with some data from 1947.

Geographic areas covered—United States.

Subject content—This report measures income inequality from several perspectives. The report traces the concentration of income among families and households and compares household income especially for “quintiles” (or fifths) of the population. Charts and text contrast, for example, the top and bottom fifth of the households in their share of the total income and their average incomes. It also compares incomes with the poverty level, in that way adjusting for number of family members.

In addition, the report notes the impact of other considerations such as taxes and noncash government benefits and discusses some causes of income inequality.

GPO S/N 803-005-30038-2.
 4 pp. 1996. $1.

Dynamics of Economic Well-Being: Health Insurance, 1992 to 1993: Who Loses Coverage for How Long? (P70-54)

Data time span—1992 and 1993.

Geographic areas covered—United States, with limited data for regions.

Subject content—This report highlights, in concise booklet style, the extent to which people are covered by health insurance for 28 months beginning early 1992. Charts and text show social and economic characteristics for persons without health insurance and also by the median number of months that people lacked that insurance.

The social characteristics include sex, race, Hispanic origin, age group, and educational attainment. The charts also show metropolitan residence and identified the percentage in poverty.

In addition, the text also links health coverage with employment status.
